

MEET THE JUNIOR PATROLLERS!

How to train like the brand-new Pomeranian pups of PAW Patrol: The Mighty Movie!

The Mighty Movie features a whole host of new surprises for fans of Ryder and his team of furry heroes. But of all of them, none are quite as adorable as Nano (pictured here in the blue outfit), Mini (in the yellow outfit) and Tot (in the red one).

New additions to the PAW Patrol universe, this group of cute, lively, occasionally accident-prone Pomeranians happen to also be huge fans of Chase, Marshall, Skye, Rubble, Liberty, Rocky and Zuma – and are desperate to become members of the PAW Patrol themselves!

When Ryder invites these three to join him and his team in PAW Patrol HQ, to see just what it takes to become a fully-fledged member, he puts Liberty (who isn't all that wild about the idea) in charge, to keep an eye on these hopeful junior patrollers.

Can Nano, Mini and Tot prove they have what it takes to one day become members of the patrol? If they are going to manage it, they're going to have to train very hard indeed. Turn over now to see how they – and you – can learn to become a true PAW Patroller...

GET READY TO SWEAT

Ryder's team of talented pups have spent years training to be the heroes we know and love them for. To help them tackle whatever madcap mission Mayor Humdinger and Victoria Vance might throw their way requires graft. So, start your day with five star-jumps. Perfect exercise for incoming meteors!

FIND A GREAT COACH

Every aspiring warrior needs a wise mentor to teach them on their journey to combat excellence. For the junior patrollers, that mentor comes in the reluctant form of Liberty, who must find untapped levels of patience within herself to help them. In the absence of a Liberty of your own, perhaps enlist a parent.

STUDY THE SCIENCE

As we all know, being a true PAW patroller is as much about brains as it is brawn. In PAW Patrol: The Mighty Movie, the pups and junior patrollers face a threat from space that threatens all life on Earth. Get armed to tackle any intergalactic issue by swotting up on your science. Always best to be prepared!

DRESS APPROPRIATELY

If you're going to help save the day, you are going to need the right outfit! Be sure to follow the lead of Adam, Minnie and Todd, therefore, and get dressed up in something suitably action-appropriate before embarking on whatever your all-new adventure may be. Putting out fires has never looked so cool!
